

On the Subject of Marco Polo

Yeah, I pretty much never sit by the pool anymore.

Once this needy has activated, press the green button any time and any amount of times to hear a noise. This noise will either be coming from the right or the left.

Upon activation, labels corresponding to right and left will appear on the two other buttons. The labels may be swapped, and they may be black or blue.

If the lables on the two other buttons are black, press the button whose position corresponds to the direction the sound comes from. If they are blue, press the button whose label corresponds to the direction instead.

